

RETRO-REFLECTIVE MARKER

Standards

- ICAO Annex 14 - Aérodrome - §5.5.5
- FAA L-853, AC 150/5345-39

Uses

- Retro-reflective marking of taxiway and apron edges.

Features/Benefits

- Improved safety: reflective markers greatly reduce the "sea of blue" effect experienced by many pilots
- Cylindrical shape for full omnidirectional light reflection (360°)
- Corrosion-proof, aviation yellow HDPE body, withstanding UV rays
- Supplied with high intensity, blue retro-reflective sleeve. The blue colour strictly complies with ICAO, Annex 14, "Surface Marking Colours"
- On demand: the same post can incorporate reflective sleeves of different size and colour for e.g. runway marking
- Highly visible in all weather condition, day or night
- No electricity required: reflects aircraft landing and wing tip lights
- Frangible: if the marker is struck by an aircraft or vehicle, the plastic body causes no damage
- Easy installation by self-clamping fixing concept between post and in-ground base
- Easy mounting: it can be fixed directly into the ground or pavement. The optional ground mounting socket improves stability.
- Jet blast resistant
- Maintenance free
- Easy replacement by self-clamping fixing concept

Photometrics

- The blue colour strictly complies with ICAO, Annex 14, "Surface Marking Colours"
